AEROSPACE SPOTLIGHT

In 2024, Bombardier opened its state-of-the-art Global Manufacturing Centre at Toronto Pearson International Airport, dedicated to the final assembly of Global business jets. The US$400-million facility employs over 2,000 highly skilled aerospace workers assembling and testing the company's Global 5500, 6500, 7500 and 8000 aircrafts. This investment underscores Ontario's role as a global aerospace leader, supported by a robust supply chain, world-class talent and an innovation ecosystem that powers aircraft programs internationally.
